HAROLD KATZ

PHILADELPHIA 76ERS TEAM OWNER

One of the most identifiable faces in all of Philadelphia sport is Sixers owner Harold Katz. He purchased the team from Fitz Eugene Dixon Jr. on July 15, 1981 and quickly became instrumental in the growth of basketball world-wide.

Born and raised in Philadelphia, Harold Katz hung up his sneakers after high school to run the family's grocery store following the death of his father, David. Even though he was no longer able to play basketball, his heart longed for the competitiveness and the spirit of the game. After three years in the grocery business, Katz decided to branch out to enter other business endeavors. In 1972 he invested $20,000 in a weight loss program known as Nutri/System. He opened his first center in Willow Grove, a suburb of Philadelphia, and opened a second shortly afterward. After these centers showed impressive profits, Katz decided to move into franchising.

In 1977, he increased the company's sales even more when he had a succession of healthy, pre-packaged, pre-measured diet foods, sold exclusively to Nutri/System customers. He sold his interest in the diet firm in 1986 when it was the largest medically supervised weight loss company in the world, with over 700 company-owned and franchised centers nationwide.

His first interest, however, remained in basketball and his life-long pursuit of the sport continued to grow. He remained a loyal season ticket holder for many seasons with the 76ers, hoping one day to own Philadelphia's professional team. As his business life continued to prosper, his dream became a reality when the sale became final in July of '81. From that day, Katz worked relentlessly at obtaining something that had eluded the Sixers since 1967, an NBA championship. With his sharp business mind and basketball knowledge, Katz brought the NBA crown back to the city in 1983.

Besides being the sole owner of the 76ers, Katz is actively involved in numerous charitable and philanthropic affairs. He has assumed roles of leadership in B'nai B'rith, the March of Dimes, Jewish Y's, Big Brothers/Big Sisters, the Police Athletic League, the Hero Scholarship Fund of Philadelphia, and the Special Olympics. He has also headed fund raising drives for organizations such as the National Kidney Foundation, the Fellowship Commission of Philadelphia and The Children's Hospital of Philadelphia. Under his leadership, the Sixers charity organization, the Sixers Score Foundation, also assists over 100 charities each year. The Sixers "Stay In School" program is also fast becoming one of the widest reaching charities in the Delaware Valley as well.

DAVID KATZ

TEAM VICE PRESIDENT

David Katz returns for his fifth season as the club's vice president. Through the years, the younger Katz has held a variety of positions on the business side of the team, including director of marketing and director of community relations.

David began his career with the 76ers in 1986, assuming the role of director of community relations. He handled all player appearances, community involvement projects and social function planning for the team. He then moved on to become the team's director of marketing before becoming vice president in August of 1989. In his current role, the younger Katz stays involved with many aspects of the team operations both on the basketball and the business sides. He is also president of Innovative Staffing Services, a company that supplies health care organizations with temporary nursing care.

The 29-year-old Philly native also spends a great deal of time devoted to owning and running some of the most successful and innovative basketball camps in the country, the 76ers Basketball Camps, which has over 25 day camp locations in the area, along with an overnight camp in the Pocono Mountains of Pennsylvania. He has also founded NBA Camps, a program that runs activities for youngsters throughout the country. In addition, David stays involved in many charitable endeavors throughout the year, and serves as president of the Sixers Score Foundation, the team's far-reaching charity outfit.

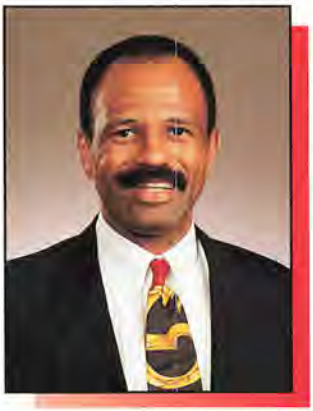
JOHN LUCAS

HEAD COACH, GENERAL MANAGER AND VICE PRESIDENT OF BASKETBALL OPERATIONS



Forty-year-old North Carolina native John Lucas became the 15th head coach in Sixers history on June 14, 1994, replacing Fred Carter. Lucas comes to Philly after a season and a half as head coach of the San Antonio Spurs, compiling a 94-49 record. He became only the second head coach/general manager in Sixers franchise history, joining Jack Ramsay, who assumed the dual role from 1968-70. The dual role may come as a surprise in an era where sports management has become very segmented. However, it is not strange to a person who is used to taking on more than his share of challenges

Lucas' appointment as head coach of the San Antonio Spurs on December 18, 1992 sent shockwaves through the NBA. At that point his coaching resumé consisted of a single season as head coach of the Miami Tropics of the USBL. He silenced virtually all his critics by leading the Spurs to a 49-33 mark, including a streak of 18 wins in 19 games and a franchise record 10 game winning streak. He followed up his first season of success with a 55-27 record last season before resigning in early May.

That type of success, both on and off the athletic field, is nothing new to Lucas. He made his first mark as a prep athlete in his hometown of Durham, North Carolina, starring on both the tennis and basketball courts. In tennis he won three consecutive state singles titles and was a member of the Junior Davis Cup team. As a basketball player, he was a four year letterman and broke fellow legend Pete Maravich's North Carolina state scoring record.

He then moved on to the University of Maryland, earning All-America honors in both 1975 and 1976 for Lefty Driesell's Terrapins, and finishing his career as UM's all-time leader in points (2,015) and assists (514). His basketball efforts were again matched by his work on the tennis court, where he earned All-America status both his junior and senior years.

The Houston Rockets made Lucas the top pick in the 1976 NBA Draft and he did not disappoint, averaging 11.1 ppg and 5.6 apg, while earning a spot on the NBA All-Rookie team. He then spent the next 13 seasons with six NBA teams, including three separate stints with Houston. Lucas retired in 1990, averaging 10.7 ppg and 7.0 apg in 928 career games, and etched his name in the NBA recordbook on April 15, 1984, handing out 14 assists in the second period of a game for the Spurs against the Denver Nuggets at HemisFair Arena. He finished among the top 10 in the NBA in assists seven times in his career, and also spent two seasons on the World Team Tennis circuit, playing for the GoldenGaters and the New Orleans Nets from 1976-79.

Following his retirement from basketball, Lucas entered the business world, founding the Houston-based John Lucas Enterprises. The company runs a number of drug-treatment programs and other endeavors that help athletes, and others, maintain their sobriety and work to improve their quality of life. These programs include the John Lucas Residential Treatment Center, John Lucas Athlete's Aftercare Program and S.T.A.N.D (Students Taking Action Not Drugs). In addition, he is the program consultant to the Sam Houston Memorial Hospital's John Lucas/HELP Unit. He also owns the Miami Tropics of the USBL and uses the club to give recovering addicts the chance to resume their professional careers. Lucas led the team in back-to-back USBL championships in 1992 and 1993.

Lucas holds a bachelor's degree in business administration from Maryland and a master's in secondary education from the University of San Francisco. He has also been bestowed with numerous honors for his work, including the USBL's Man of the Year Award in 1992 and the 1986 National Black Leadership Roundtable Award.

Lucas and his wife Debbie have three children, a daughter, Tarvia, and two sons, John Jr. and Jai.

ASSISTANT COACHES

RON ADAMS — Assistant Coach

California native Ron Adams is beginning his first season in Philadelphia, after working with John Lucas the past two seasons in San Antonio. The dean of the Sixers coaching staff, Adams has coached on every level, including extensive work on the collegiate and international level.

Adams began his work on the NBA level in 1992, when he joined then-head coach Jerry Tarkanian with the Spurs. He stayed on as a member of the staff when John Lucas took the reins in early December, and came to Philly when Lucas accepted his position in early June.

Prior to joining the Spurs, Anderson spent 12 seasons as both a head and assistant coach on the Division I level, including four as head coach at Fresno State University. He also served as an assistant under Boyd Grant at Fresno for five seasons, including their 1982 National Invitation Championship season. Four times during his tenure at Fresno, the Bulldogs led the nation in defense, including the '81-82 campaign, when Fresno finished with a number 11 ranking while giving up just 47.1 points per game, the lowest mark in the NCAA since 1952.

Following his work at Fresno, Adams moved on to UNLV, helping Jerry Tarkanian's Rebels to a 34-1 record in 1990-91 and a trip to the NCAA Final Four. He also spent the 1991-92 season as an assistant coach at Drake University before rejoining Tarkanian with the Spurs. Ron has also logged time as head coach at his alma mater, Fresno Pacific College, and spent time as an assistant with UC-Santa Barbara and U.S. International University.

Adams also has an impressive resume on the international level. He has served as both coach and consultant to the Canadian Olympic Team, the Belgian National Program and the Kumgi Gumi, the Champions of the Japan League. In 1978-79 he was the head coach of the Sunair Basketball Club and led the team to the Cup of Belgium Championship.

Adams and his wife, Leah Ogden, have two children, Jerid and Hayley, and reside in Wayne, Pa.

MAURICE CHEEKS — Assistant Coach

Former Sixers guard Maurice Cheeks returns to Philly in a new capacity; one of assistant coach. The 36-year-old Chicago native spent last season as an assistant coach with the Continental Basketball Association champion Quad City Thunder following his retirement after the 1992-93 season.

Known as one of the best defensive guards in the history of the game, the 36-year-old will work extensively with the Sixers young guards, as well as handling a variety of other coaching responsibilities.

Cheeks spent 14 seasons in the NBA (1978-93), including 11 in Philadelphia. He also spent time with San Antonio, New York, Atlanta and New Jersey. Maurice finished his career first on the all-time NBA steals list (2,310), fifth in assists (7,392) and 10th in games played (1,101). He was also a four-time NBA All-Defensive first team selection and was once selected to the All-Defensive second team.

Maurice is single and resides in Philadelphia.

TOM THIBODEAU

Assistant Coach

Tom Thibodeau is beginning his first season with the Sixers after spending the past two seasons with John Lucas in San Antonio. He brings to the Sixers a valuable blend of experience as an NBA assistant coach, advance scout and head coach at the collegiate level.

Thibodeau returns to the east coast after spending the past five seasons further west, from 1989 to 1991 as an assistant coach with the Minnesota Timberwolves under Bill Musselman, the '91-92 season as the advance scout for the Seattle SuperSonics, and the past two seasons with the Spurs. His duties will again include practice planning, individual drills, advance scouting, game plans and Draft preparation.

The 36-year-old has compiled quite a list of highlights along his coaching stops thus far. In his first NBA season, he helped lead the expansion Timberwolves to the most wins of any of the four expansion teams (22), while finishing second in the NBA in defense (99.6 ppg allowed) and fewest turnovers (14.6). His second season in Minnesota saw continued improvement, as the Wolves led the league in fewest turnovers per game (an NBA record 12.96), posted a winning record at home in only their second season in existence, and finished in the top five in the NBA in three other categories. He spent the next season working with the Sonics as their advance scout, before rejoining the coaching ranks with the Spurs in '92-93.

Originally hired by Jerry Tarkanian, Thibodeau remained with the club when John Lucas took over in early December and assisted in one of the quickest turnarounds for a club in league history. San Antonio finished in the Top 10 in six categories in '92-93, had a club record 10 game winning streak, and advanced to the Western Conference semi-finals. The success continued last season, as the Spurs led the league in rebound pct. and were in the Top 10 in five other categories, on the way to a 55-27 mark..

The New Britain, Connecticut native has also logged quality time on the intercollegiate level, serving as an assistant coach at Harvard University from 1985-1989 and as an assistant and then head coach at his alma mater, Salem State College, from 1981-'85. He helped lead the Vikings to three NCAA Tournament appearances, and was selected as the team's Most Outstanding Player in 1981.

Thibodeau holds a master's degree in counseling and a bachelor's of science degree from Salem State. He is single and resides in Philadelphia.

TONY DILEO

Director of Scouting

Tony DiLeo is entering his fifth season with the Sixers, his first as the team's newly-appointed director of scouting. The Philly native has served as an assistant coach and director of player personnel under Doug Moe, Jim Lynam and Fred Carter.

The 39-year-old's duties will include coordinating all aspects of scouting, including reporting on upcoming opponents, keeping abreast of collegiate and CBA players and watching the progress of players currently playing in Europe.

DiLeo brings an extensive background in international coaching to the position. He spent from 1979 through 1989 as a player and scout in West Germany, winning nine national titles in the country's top Division in his 10 seasons. He was selected as the West German Basketball Federation's National Coach from 1981-85 and was the country's "Coach of the Year" in 1987. DiLeo also worked as a European scout for Marty Blake, the NBA's director of scouting services, during his time abroad.

Away from the court, DiLeo spends time as an author and publisher. In 1984, he wrote and published the European Basketball Handbook, a guide designed to accomodate American players overseas. He also wrote a detailed manual in 1989, on rule differences between the Federation International Basketball Association (FIBA), the NBA and the NCAA.

Tony played basketball at Cinnaminson High in New Jersey, Tennessee Tech and LaSalle University. As a senior with the Explorers in 1977. he was a first team GTE/CoSIDA Academic All-American while playing for Paul Westhead, graduating first in his class with a degree in accounting from LaSalle's School of Business.

DiLeo and his wife Anna and their two sons reside in Cinnaminson, N.J.

GENE SHUE

Director of Player Personnel

One of the most accomplished careers both on and off the professional basketball court belongs to Sixers director of player personnel Gene Shue. Shue is entering his third season in his current position with Philly, after also handling roles as general manager, head coach and player on the professional level.Gene's current duties include evaluating rookie/free agent and collegiate talent, helping prepare for the Draft, scheduling and coordinating the teams preseason schedule and annual rookie/free agent and veteran's camp. He assumed the role on May 27, 1992 following a two-year stint as the Sixers general manager, which he had accepted on July 24, 1990.

In addition to his front office work, the 62-year-old Baltimore, Maryland native brings a wealth of coaching knowledge with him. He logged 23 seasons as an NBA head coach, posting a 784-861 record (eighth-most on the all-time list) and twice earning NBA "Coach of the Year" honors ('69 and '82). He is joined by only Bill Fitch, Don Nelson and Cotton Fitzsimons as the only two-time winners of the prestigious award.

Shue began his pro coaching career with the then-Baltimore Bullets in 1966-67, transforming a team with the worst record in the league (20-61) to the best record (57-25) in only two seasons. Just two seasons after that (1971), the once-hapless Bullets reached the NBA Finals before losing to the Milwaukee Bucks. During his six seasons in Baltimore, the Bullets brought home four Eastern Division titles and made five playoff appearances.

He left following the 1972-73 season to meet another challenge, trying to turn around the floundering Philadelphia 76ers. Just the previous season, the Sixers had set the still-standing NBA record for futility, posting a 9-73 record under Roy Rubin and interim coach Kevin Loughery. Although not as dramatic as in Baltimore, the turnaround in Philly was just as effective. The team improved its record in each of his first four seasons, eventually reaching the 50 win plateau (50-32) in '76-77, along with a berth in the NBA Finals, where they lost to the Portland Trail Blazers in six games. He was replaced as Sixers coach after six games of the '77-78 season by Billy Cunningham, finishing with a 157-177 record during his tenure.

From Philly, Shue moved west and was named coach of the San Diego (now Los Angeles) Clippers in 1978. Once again he was able to spark a turnaround, taking a franchise which was just 27-55 as the Buffalo Braves the season before, and posting a 43-39 record the next season. He remained with the Clippers through the '79-80 season, returning back east to again coach the Washington Bullets. In his second season back east, he led the team to a 43-39 mark, again earning "Coach Of The Year" honors. He left Washington following the '85-86 season with a 232-248 record and returned to the west coast, again taking over the Clippers reigns, where he ended his coaching career after 38 games of the '88-89 season.

Shue first joined the pro ranks as a player, the third pick of the first round of the 1954 Draft out of the University of Maryland by the Philadelphia (now Golden State) Warriors. He spent 10 seasons as a player in the N.B.A. with the Warriors, Knicks, Pistons and Bullets before retiring in 1964. Shue was a five-time NBA All-Star ('58-62), was selected to the All-NBA First Team in 1960 and the Second Team in '61, averaging 14.4 ppg in 699 regular season games.

An avid golfer and tennis player who is in great physical shape, Gene and his wife Sandy split time between Cinnaminson, New Jersey and Marina del Rey, California.

GERRY RYAN

Business Manager

One of the most recognizable faces in the Sixers organization is business manager Gerry Ryan. The Philly native has come to work at the corners of Broad and Pattison since he graduated from St. Joseph's University in 1975, and is entering his 14th season with the Sixers, ninth as business manager.

Ryan began his work with Philly's pro sports teams in August of '75, handling box office duties at The Spectrum for Spectacor Corporation. He then joined the Sixers staff in 1980 as ticket manager, and held the title until his promotion to his current position in July of 1987.

Included among his myriad of duties with Harold Katz's club is overseeing the accounting, broadcasting, marketing, promotions, public relations, ticketing and game-night operations departments. He also is the liaison between the Sixers and The Spectrum, and serves as the "go-to" guy between the Sixers office staff and upper management.

During his tenure with the Sixers and The Spectrum, Ryan has worked virtually every type of event, ranging from concerts to college basketball. He lists among his most memorable events the Sixers 1983 NBA Championship over the L.A. Lakers and the 1976 Final Four at The Spectrum ,which saw Bobby Knight's Indiana Hoosiers defeat Michigan for the title. He has also witnessed 659 Sixers wins since becoming a part of the organization in 1980.

Gerry graduated from St. Joe's with degrees in business management and marketing. When not at work, Gerry and his wife Jane can usually be found taking their three sons, Greg, Tim and Matt, and their daughter Melissa, to any number of athletic events in the Delaware Valley. The Ryan clan resides in West Chester, Pa.

MIKE ABDENOUR

Trainer

Effervescent Mike Abdenour returns for his third season in Philly. One of the most identifiable faces in the NBA, the Detroit native can be seen during all Sixers games sitting on the bench with clip board in hand and wearing one of any number of red, white and blue sweaters. This season will mark his 20th in the NBA, including 17 with the Detroit Pistons.

The 42-year-old made the jump from the collegiate to the professional level in 1974, going from Wayne State University directly to the Pistons. He has been a member of the NBA training fraternity ever since.

A member of the National Athletic Trainers' Association since his college days, Abdenour has handled a number of prestigeous duties during his time in the NBA. Included on that list are serving as trainer for the 1979 and 1994 NBA All-Star games and the 1981 NBA All-Stars tour of mainland China. He served as secretary on the NBATA Executive Committee from 1987-89, and is a frequent speaker in Michigan on topics relating to sports medicine. He and his brother Tom (the current trainer for the Golden State Warriors) made history of sorts in 1987, when they became the first brother training combination in professional sports.

Mike's hobbies include working toward a pilot's license and home remodeling. An expert tipper, Mike has also been seen frequenting some of the more respectable eating establishments in and around the NBA. He and his wife Janice and their son Michael reside in Media, Pa.

THE SIXERS SCORE FOUNDATION/NBA COMMUNITY RELATIONS

OUR MISSION STATEMENT

"The Sixers Score Foundation recognizes and acts on the needs of the people of the greater Philadelphia area. The Foundation attempts to make a difference in all areas of the community through charitable endeavors implementing a broad-based community relations program. It seeks to promote self-esteem and leadership in the young as well as aid the less fortunate. By establishing long-term projects, we hope to keep the 76ers visible in the community as a positive force in the lives of Philadelphians."

Mayor Ed Rendeli, Sixer Tim Perry and Dept. of Recreation Commissioner Michael DiBerardinis at the Sayre/Morris Playground as part of the "Sixers Summer in the City" program.

The National Basketball Association, its teams and players share a commitment to supporting and improving the quality of life in their communities. On a national level, the NBA is involved in numerous public service initiatives.

Since 1989, the NBA and the National Basketball Players Association have worked to draw attention to this country's alarming drop-out statistics through the national NBA Stay in School program. Created to urge students to graduate from high school, the Stay in School program uses popularity and visibility of NBA players and coaches to encourage young people to develop self-esteem, set goals and dedicate themselves to learning.

Through public service announcements on television and radio and other awareness-building projects, the NBA and its players also support the work of the Special Olympics, CARE, the National Committee for the prevention of Child Abuse and Operation Prom/Graduation, a program that urges high school students to celebrate an alcohol-free prom and graduation season. The NBA also produces and airs PSA's saluting the birth of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., Black History month and Second Harvest, a nationwide food bank which feeds the hungry across America.

SIXERS CHARITABLE ENDEAVORS

In addition to the NBA's work, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Katz, coach John Lucas, his staff and the Sixers players recognize the need to go that much further for those less fortunate in the Delaware Valley. The team is able to reach out to over 100 charities and thousands of children each year. Here's a brief look at some key projects:

MAJOR FUNCTIONS

- Winners Ball (Spring) and Celebrity Golf Outing (Fall)

The Sixers two headline fundraising events are the annual Celebrity Golf Outing in the early fall and the annual Winners Ball, in the late spring. Both events benefit The Children's Hospital of Philadelphia.

- "Stay in School" program

attempts to reach middle school-aged children, and reward them for good attendance and academic improvement.

The year-long "Stay In School" Incentive Program distributes "Stay In School" contracts to each of the 40,000 School District of Philadelphia Middle School students, which encourage the children to show academic improvement and solid attendance throughout the school year. At the end of each report period, students who show improvement along with solid attendance are rewarded with prizes from the Sixers, ranging from backpacks to equipment bags to game tickets.

— Mix also makes over 100 appearances a year to public and parochial schools, inspiring children with his "Stay In School" and "Say No To Drugs" message.

— The "Stay In School Jam." Held in the early spring, the Sixers combine a game night with a postgame concert featuring some of the top stars in music. Event tickets are used as a reward for students showing the greatest academic improvement and stellar attendance record. Each student receives a number of special prizes on Jam night, and is treated to a postgame concert (which featured Tevin Campbell and Kris Kross last season) as a reward.

- The Sixers "Rec Centers" programs

The Sixers annually work with the City of Philadelphia to keep Philadelphia's many inner city Recreation Centers safe and in playing shape. Philly's "Summer In The City" program refurbishes many innercity basketball courts each year, while "Rec Centers at Center Court" night gives thousands of kids a night of free NBA basketball along with giving many groups a chance to actually play on The CoreStates Spectrum floor. The team has also teamed with the Salvation Army to run the Moonlight Basketball Leagues, keeping kids involved in sports and off the streets late at night.

- Christmas Projects

The Sixers use the holiday season to spread cheer to the children of greater Philadelphia. The team makes an annual visit at the holidays to The Children's Hospital of Philadelphia, delivering gifts to those young ones too ill to make it home for the holidays. The team also joins the United States Marines in an annual "Toys for Tots" promotion, with the proceeds and gifts going to underprivileged children.

- "Sixers Wives Save Lives" campaign

The wives of Sixers players and coaches have banded together to assist several causes, the most notable of which is the fight against breast cancer.

- PhilaPride

The Sixers donate time and production costs as an active partner in helping create awareness for a cleaner Philadelphia. Clarence Weatherspoon is the spokesperson for the campaign, which urges all Delaware Valley residents to rally for civic pride in keeping their neighborhoods clean.

SHAQUILLE O'NEAL TOPS NBA'S 20-20 CLUB

Shaquille O'Neal retained his slot as the leader of the NBA's 20-20 club last year in posting 20 or more points and rebounds in the same game. Shaquille did it six times, which was one less then he did in 1992-93. Other past winners were Kevin Willis 12 in 1991-92; Hakeem Olajuwon 6 in 1990-91 and 8 in 1989-90; Robert Parish 5 in 1988-89, Olajuwon 6 in 1987-88, Charles Barkley 11 in 1986-87. Behind Shaquille in 1993-94 were Barkley and Wills 3 each; K. Malone, L. Johnson, Ewing and Olajuwon, 2 each; and Divac, D. Davis, Owens, Webber, Thorpe, Polynice, Seikaly and Pinckney 1 each. Thus 15 players did it 28 times (13-32 in 1992-93, 17-39 in 1991-92, 16-28 in 1990-91, 14-28 in 1989-90, 16-28 in 1988-89, and 12-31 in 1987-88). Sherman Douglas had 20 points and 20 assists in a game. John Stockton and Kevin Johnson did it once each in 1991-92.

TICKET PRICES IN THE EARLY YEARS

When player salaries were not as lofty as today and teams did not have arenas with the large seating capacities now prevalent in the NBA, ticket prices for games were accordingly much cheaper than today, just like prices for clothing, food, etc. The first year of the 76ers in 1963-64, ticket prices for the games at Convention Hall were $1.50, $2, $2.75 and $3.50. They stayed the same the next season. In 1965-66, the top price soared to $4 with $3.25, $2.50 and $1.50 the other prices. These were also the prices when the 76ers won the NBA Title in 1966-67. In 1967-68, the first year in the Spectrum, the prices were $6, $5, $4, $3, and $2. They stayed that way through the 1974-75 season. Finally in 1975-76, the first year of George McGinnis, the prices went up a dollar to a $7 tops, and then began the steady rise to today's figures.

5 INDIANA HOOSIER STARTERS MAKE NBA

As far as anyone can ascertain the NCAA champion Indiana Hoosiers of 1976 are the only team to send all five starters to the NBA. Four of the players were drafted in the 1976 draft and the fifth, junior center Kent Benson, was drafted in 1977 by Milwaukee in the first round. The other picks in 1976 were first round selections Quinn Buckner (Milwaukee), Scott May (Chicago) and Bob Wilkerson (Seattle) plus third choice Tom Abernethy (LA Lakers).

TOP 120 PIVOTAL PLAYER POINT TOTALS 1993-94

Here are the top 120 players in the annual IBM award competition for all-around contributions to a team's success. The Elias Sports Bureau, which provided this table, explains the formula used as follows: Players Pts. + Rebounds + Assists + Steals + Blocked Shots – Personal Fouls – Turnovers – FGA + (Team wins x 10 x 250). This total is numerator. His Team Points + Rebounds + Assists + Steals + Blocks – FGA – PF – TO. This total is denominator. Divide numerator by denominator for individual figure.

No team in NBA history has gone through a season without losing at least two games in succession. The teams that had only one such streak were Boston in 1984-85, 1980-81, 1974-75 and 1972-73. Teams that only had 2-game losing streaks twice were Los Angeles Lakers 1986-87, 76ers 1982-83, Boston 1981-82, and 1985-86, Milwaukee 1980-81 and Golden State 1975-76; Minneapolis 1949-50; Syracuse 1949-50. Those with three were 1971-72 Los Angeles, 1960-61 St. Louis, 1979-80 Boston, 1988-89 Detroit, 1989-90 LA Lakers and 1991-92 Chicago; 4 2-game streaks were accomplished by 1962-63 Boston and 1949-50 Rochester; five for Dallas 1986-87 and the 1971-72 and 1969-70 Milwaukee teams; 1966-67 Boston and 1948-49 Minneapolis and 1993-94 Phoenix. It was done 6 times by 1963-64 Cincinnati, 1988-89 Cleveland, and 1992-93 Chicago; 7 times by 1983-84 Los Angeles, 1980-81 Phoenix, 1972-73 Capital and 1989-90 Utah; 8 times by 1976-77 76ers and 9 times by 1989-90 Phoenix.

CALIFORNIA HIGH SCHOOLS NBA'S TOP BREEDER

California high schools continued to lead in providing NBA material in 1993-94. The state's high schools produced 53 (last year 44) of the 415 players in the league last year and also had a league high of 47 different schools. Four players came from Dunbar of Baltimore (Tyrone Bogues, Reggie Williams, David Wingate, Sam Cassell) and Westinghouse of Chicago (Eddie Johnson, Hersey Hawkins, Mark Aguirre); Ben Franklin of Philadelphia (Pooh Richardson, Paul Graham, Randy Woods), and Lakewood, Cal. (Tom Tolbert, Tod Murphy, Duane Cooper) each had three products, while 36 others schools had two representatives.

SUNDRY RECORDS

Pat Riley, K. C. Jones and Bill Russell are the only three individuals who have played in the NCAA's championship game and also coached an NBA champion. Russell and Jones played together for San Francisco U and coached the Boston Celtics to the NBA title. Riley played at Kentucky and, of course, coached the Los Angeles Lakers.

ANOTHER 1993-94 PLAYER RATINGS SYSTEM

Here's the way one NBA general manager rates players. His formula to calcuate points is as follows: Points plus rebounds plus steals plus blocked shots divided by two. Then add assists multiplied by two. Subtract turnovers and then divide the remaining figure by the player's games played. Here are his figures for 1993-94.

O'NEAL LEADS TENDEX RATINGS

One of the most popular ways to evaluate NBA players is the Tendex system which was led by Shaquille O'Neal in the 1993-94 season by a slim margin over David Robinson. The points are calculated this way: points plus rebounds plus assists plus blocks minus turnovers minus (missed field goals plus missed free throws). The total is then divided by the minutes played.

DOUBLE FIGURE SCORING 1993-94

In the NBA, as well as anywhere else in the game of basketball, consistency has always been one of the main parts of the game. To be able to put double figure points on the board night after night is a great attribute. Five players were able to score double figures in every game they played during the 1993-94 season, led by Karl Malone who was able to score double figures in all 82 games. Malone extended his streak of scoring double figures to 221 games. Karl has scored in double figures every game over the last two seasons, plus the final 57 games of the 1991-92 season, according to Dick Pfander of Beulah, Michigan. That is the longest current streak. Hakeem Olajuwon owns the second longest streak at 177 games. Malone has a very long way to go to get to Kareem Abdul-Jabbar's record 787 straight double-figure games. Michael Jordan retired with a string of 577 straight games.

JOHN STOCKTON NO. 1 IN POINT PRODUCTION 1993-94

Someone suggested that the MVP is the one who is responsible for the most points in a game. A player would get 2 points for each assist. Then add all the points he scored to the points for assists and divide the total by the number of games he played to get his average points produced a game. Under this system John Stockton was the 1993-94 winner, unseating Michael Jordan. Jordan won in 1987-88, 1988-89 and 1992-93 while Magic Johnson was tops in 1985-86 and 1986-87. Stockton won in 1989-90 and Michael Adams in 1990-91.

WINNING WAYS 1993-94

It is most important to get a good start in an NBA game and also have a strong finish, as has been the case in previous years. The team which leads at the end of the first quarter won over 67% of the time, according to Dick Pfander of Beulah, Michigan. The chart below shows which teams were best and which were not, at winning after leading at the end of one period. Seattle, Utah and New York were best at winning games which they were trailing at the end of the first quarter. Winning the fourth quarter produced a victory over 68% of the time. The chart below shows those results. The percentages could have been higher but on some occasions the winning team had a solid lead in the final quarter and turned the game over to its bench to finish out. That point is illustrated by the fact that three teams won 20 or more games in which they lost the fourth quarter. The playoffs were similar to the regular season. The winning team won the first quarter more than 69% of the time and won the fourth quarter more than 62% of the time. On 18 occasions the loser won the fourth quarter and still lost the game by six or more points.

1993-94 FINES BY TEAM

New York	$149,500	Phoenix	$25,000	Denver	$8,500	Utah	$5,000
Chicago	89,500	Atlanta	25,000	New Jersey	7,500	Detroit	5,000
Miami	40,000	Houston	20,000	Dallas	7,500	Golden State	4,000

Indiana	25,500	Portland	10,000	Minnesota	5,000	Total	$546,500

Last year's total $600,000. Boston, Washington, Milwaukee and Cleveland were not fined. Miami had 4 game suspensions; San Antonio, New York and Houston, 3 each; Chicago, LA Lakers and Atlanta 2 each; and Detroit, Utah, Denver, Indiana, Seattle, Portland, 76ers, Dallas, Minnesota, Sacramento and Charlotte one apiece for a league total of 30, 12 more than last year. The money lost by suspensions is considerable since game salaries of players Alonzo Mourning, Hakeem Olajuwon, Clyde Drexler and Dennis Rodman are high.

NATE McMILLAN NO. 1 IN FIRST EVER PLUS-MINUS RATINGS

The long-delayed project of evaluating NBA players by a plus-minus system finally was completed for the 1993-94 season. Eligible players were only those who played at least 750 minutes either with one team or with two teams together. To determine the ratings, it was necessary to add all the points scored by his own team when he was on the floor and compare it with all the points scored in the same period by the opposition. Those whose team scored more were plus players and those who had the opponents scoring more were minus players. In all there were 250 players eligible and the winner was Nate McMillan of Seattle who had a plus 616 total, the only player above 600 points. Nate had 59 plus games, 13 minus games and 1 even game. Kevin Willis was second with plus 594 points on 56 plus games, 13 minus games and 1 even game, while No. 3 was David Robinson with plus 572 on 55 plus games, 23 minus games and 2 even games. At the other end of the table we find the worst records compiled by two Dallas players. Jimmy Jackson won the booby prize with minus 731 points that included 64 minus games, 17 plus games and 1 even game. Jamal Mashburn was the runnerup at minus 716. The third worst was Sean Elliott with minus 513.

Bill Fitch is the leader in NBA coaching service with 21 seasons. He is followed by Dick Motta who has 20 19/20 seasons, Lenny Wilkins 20 3/4, and by Jack Ramsay at 20 1/2. Gene Shue coached in 22 different seasons but was thrice relieved of his duties during the season, so his total is 20 1/2 seasons. Wilt Chamberlain 1959-60 and Wes Unseld 1968-69 are the only two players ever to win Rookie of Year and MVP the same season. Kareem Abdul-Jabbar 1969-70 and 1970-71 and Bob Pettit 1954-55 and 1955-56 are the only two to do it in successive seasons.

THE YEAR WILT AVERAGED 48.5 MINUTES A GAME

One of Wilt Chamberlain's most amazing feats came in 1961-62 when he played a total of 3882 minutes, still an NBA record. The Warriors played an 80 game schedule and by multiplying by 48 you get 3840 minutes. The Warriors also played seven overtime games (one a triple, one a double, and five singles) to account for 50 more minutes. Thus it would have been possible for Wilt to play a total of 3890 minutes and he missed by eight minutes of doing just that. He missed the eight minutes when he was ejected by the officials on three technicals on January 6 1962.

NBA PLAYOFF WINNING MARGINS — 1946-47 THRU 1993-94

There have been 2035 playoff games played since the league's origin in the 1946-46 season. The total point difference of those 2035 games between winner score and loser score adds up to 20,870 points. That's an average of 10.26 points per game, according to Dick Pfander of Beulah, Michigan. The chart shows the number of times each point difference has occurred in playoff history. As in regular season games, a two point difference has occurred the most times (148). These totals include 10 special playoff games which were played to break ties in regular season final standings and, thus, determine playoff opponents. Three playoff games have concluded with a margin of 50 or more points, including the March 19, 1956 game in which the Minneapolis Lakers beat the St. Louis Hawks, 133-75 for the largest victory margin (58 points) in NBA playoff history.

It was the ninth straight year Hakeem Olajuwon did it and the fifth for David Robinson, the second for Shawn Kemp and the first for the other three.

ROBINSON BEST AT TURNING TEAM AROUND

Since the territorial draft was abolished, the No. 1 draft choices have had varying success in turning teams around. The best was Lew Alcindor (now Kareem Abdul Jabbar) when Milwaukee had a 27-55 record in 1968-69 and then went to 56-26 in Alcindor's first year for a rise of 29. Next best was Elvin Hayes with plus 22. However, David Robinson was the No. 1 choice in 1987, didn't play until 1989-90 and San Antonio went from 21-61 to 56-26, a 35 game turnaround for the best boost. Mychal Thompson has the dubious distinction of being the No. 1 pick to have his team post a worse record, Portland going from 58-24 to 45-37 in his rookie campaign. Pervis Ellison was the No. 1 pick in 1989 and Sacramento dropped from 27-55 to 23-59. In 1992 Shaquille O'Neal was No. 1 and Orlando rose from 21-61 to 41-41. The only one to win an NBA title was Magic Johnson with a plus 13 in the 1979-80 season.

ASSISTS ANALYSIS 1993-94

Winning games in the NBA usually requires good shots, and the ability to deliver the ball to the right player, in the right place, at the right time can usually result in a good shot. Recording more assists in a game than the other team results in a win more than 3 of every 4 games. Records compiled by Dick Pfander of Beulah, Michigan show that the team with more assists won 797 times and lost only 250 times for a percentage of .761. There were 60 games in which both teams recorded an equal number of assists. San Antonio, Seattle and Houston compiled the best records in this phase of the game, while Dallas, Milwaukee and Detroit had the most trouble. Winning games while recording fewer assists is difficult. Only Orlando, Phoenix, and Atlanta could win more than 40% of those games. Minnesota, Sacramento and Washington had the most trouble winning with fewer assists. Complete figures follow:

REBOUNDING ANALYSIS — 1993-94

Rebounding is one of the key elements of basketball in the NBA where the winning team out-rebounds the loser more than 2 out of every 3 games. The team with more rebounds won 725 times and lost 345 times for a percentage of .678, according to records compiled by Dick Pfander of Beulah, Michigan. There were 37 games in which both teams had an equal number of rebounds. These numbers are close to the numbers recorded during the 1992-93 season. The best percentages belonged to Seattle, Atlanta and New York. Dallas, Milwaukee and Minnesota had the most trouble winning games when gathering more rebounds. Winning games while being out-rebounded is a difficult task, but six teams led by Seattle, were able to win half of those games. ALL-TIME ANALYSIS OF NBA PLAYERS

Since the NBA began operations in the 1946-47 season, there have been 2521 different players who have appeared in at least one league game. Dick Pfander of Beulah, Michigan, has done a thorough analysis of their careers, which turns up some interesting facts. The 2521 players have played a total of 10,346 seasons which averages 4.10 seasons per player. They have played a total of 607,974 games, which averages 241.16 games per career. A total of 6,497,656 points have been scored in NBA history which averages 2577.41 points per career. Thus, the average NBA career spans 4 seasons, 241 games and 2577 points. 403 players performed in at least one regular season NBA game during the 1993-94 season, including 72 rookies playing their first season in the league.

A WILT RECORD THAT STILL STANDS

Everyone is familiar with the league record 100 points that Wilt Chamberlain scored in 1962 versus the Knicks, but it is not as widely known that he also holds the league record for assists (21) by a center. He achieved this figure Feb. 2, 1968 vs. Detroit. Maurice Cheeks equalled that figure to tie Wilt for the club mark on Oct. 30, 1982 vs. the Nets, but of course Cheeks is a guard.

ARCHIBALD'S UNIQUE FEAT

Nate (Tiny) Archibald is the only NBA player ever to lead the league in scoring and assists in the same season, averaging 33.9 points and 11.4 assists in 1972-73.

ONLY 7 CURRENT COACHES WON COACH OF YEAR LAURELS

Of the current 27 coaches, only seven have won NBA Coach of the Year laurels. Don Nelson in 1982-83, 1984-85 and 1991-92; Pat Riley in 1989-90 and 1992-93; Mike Fratello in 1985-86; Don Chaney, 1990-91; Lenny Wilkens in 1993-94; Dick Motta in 1970-71; and Bill Fitch in 1975-76 and 1979-80 comprise the septet. None of them won the NBA titles the year they were selected. The only coaches to win Coach of the Year the same year they won the NBA title were Bill Sharman, Lakers, 1971-72; Red Holzman, New York, 1969-70 and Red Auerbach, Boston, 1964-65.

LOWS SINCE 24-SECOND CLOCK

Since the 24-second clock was introduced into the NBA in the 1954-55 season, the lowest scoring regular season game was a 62-57 victory by Boston over Milwaukee on February 27, 1955 at Providence. In this game the floor was atop ice and the moisture came through the boards to make running hazardous. The total of 119 is the low and so are the 57 points by Milwaukee (now the Atlanta Hawks). The lowest scoring playoff game found Ft. Wayne beating Syracuse, 74-71, April 7, 1955 at Indianapolis. The total of 145 points is also a low. The single game low is 68 by New York at Indiana May 28, 1994. Sacramento scored 59 at Charlotte Jan. 10, 1991; New York 61 at Detroit, April 12, 1992; Indiana 61 at Cleveland, Mar. 22, 1994; Buffalo 63 vs. Milwaukee, Oct. 21, 1972; Indiana 64 at New York, Dec. 10, 1985; Chicago 65 at Phoenix, Mar. 6, 1975; Cleveland 67 Nov. 19, 1977; 76ers 67 at Cleveland 1/15/94; Dallas 68, Feb. 4, 1981; Phoenix 68, Mar. 8, 1981; New Jersey 68 at Utah Nov. 27, 1989 and Chicago 68 at New York, Feb. 20, 1994. The 55 FGA by the 76ers vs. Atlanta on 4/1/88 were lowest since 24-second clock was instituted.

RECENT REBOUND HIGHS BY 76ERS

The last 76er to get 30 rebounds in a game was Bill Bridges who had 32 versus Seattle on March 19, 1972. In 1984-85 Moses Malone has 24 rebounds twice, and 4 other games of 20 or more. In 1983-84 Moses had 27 rebounds in game of 3/25 vs. Boston and had two other games of 22 and one of 21. His 27 was highest since Caldwell Jones had 25 vs. Cleveland 2/11/81. CJ had 27 vs. Milwaukee 2/18/79 as one of 8 games in his Sixers career in which he had 20 or more rebounds. In the 1982-83 season Moses had 24 rebounds four times for his highs. In all he hit 20 or more rebounds in a game 14 times in 1982-83 compared to 4 in 1983-84. In 1985-86 Moses had games of 21 and 20 respectively, while Charles Barkley during the regular season had games of 25, 24, 22, 21 (3 times) and 20 for a total of 7. RECORDS OF NBA TEAMS WHO SCORE 100 POINTS FIRST IN A GAME

There always has been an unproven theory in the NBA, one advocated strongly by former 76ers trainer Al Dominico and consequently named the Dominico Theory, that the first team to score 100 points in a game will win the game. So for the second year we analyzed the 1107 games to come up with the proof. Last year (1992-93) our survey showed teams won 92.4% of the games when they hit 100 first. This year the figure rose to 94.5% with an 805-47 record. There were 506 games in which neither team hit 100 points. Cleveland (36-0), Chicago (32-0), New York (30-0) and Minnesota (14-0) won every game in which they hit 100 first. Phoenix and Seattle were No. 1 in wins (47) and the Sonics were first in total games (50). Dallas had least wins (7), least games (11) and worst percentage (63.6). Miami had most losses (5). Conversely, Dallas' opponents fared the best, winning all 51 games in which they scored 100 before the Mavs. Six other teams (New York, Atlanta, Chicago, San Antonio, 76ers and Sacramento) all never won a game in which foes beat them to 100.

NELSON AND SLOAN NO. 1 IN COACHING SENIORITY

Coaches in the NBA do not stay put for long periods so it's not surprising that the coaches..... with longest continuous tenure now in their seventh year are Don Nelson at Golden State and Jerry Sloan at Utah. Phil Jackson of Chicago is in his 6th year. Of course there are coaches like Lenny Wilkens and Larry Brown who have been continuous in the league but have moved their coaching residences.

STOCKTON LEAGUE'S BEST 2PT. FG SHOOTER 1993-94

Pat Riley claims the NBA's field goal percentage for players is misleading because it combines 2 and 3 point attempts. So we took the 118 players who attempted 50 or more 3 pt. field goals and subtracted these attempts and the three point goals from their overall 1993-94 totals to produce their 2 point field goal average. After leading this category for seven straight years, Charles Barkley was dethroned by John Stockton who posted a 57.0 mark which gave him a big edge over runnerup Dale Ellis with 54.6. Next in line were Nick Anderson 54.5, Barkley 54.1, Reggie Miller 53.5 and Dana Barros 52.9. The worst of the group were Terry Dehere 37.2, Brad Lohaus 38.1, James Robinson 38.2, Lindsey Hunter 38.8, Matt Bullard 38.9 and Lloyd Daniels 38.9. Only 3 of the 118 had worse field goal percentages without the threes. As Kevin Edwards dropped from 45.8 to 42.8, Dehere from 37.7 to 37.2 and Rod Higgins from 43.6 to 43.4. The biggest increases when treys were discounted were Josh Grant 9.0 (40.4 to 49.4), Brett Price 8.4 (43.3 to 51.7), Danny Ainge 7.4 (41.7 to 49.1), Nick Anderson 6.7 (47.8 to 54.5), Vern Maxwell 6.5 (38.9 to 45.5), Marion Elie 6.2 (44.6 to 50.8), and Dana Barros 6.0 (46.9 to 52.9).

POSITION BREAKDOWN OF 1993-94 PLAYERS

There were 415 players in the NBA last season and by position they broke down to 150 guards, 134 forwards and 68 centers. There were also 31 forward-centers, 14 guard-forwards, 12 center-forwards, and 6 forward-guards.

ALL-TIME LIST OF COLLEGES OF NBA COACHES

Steven Vanderpool, aided by a few folks including the editor of this publication, has compiled a list of college alma maters of everyone who ever was an NBA head-coach, regardless of how brief his tenure. We are printing two lists — one showing a college and its coaching alumni, and another list showing how many coaches each college has produced.

LENNY WILKENS' DUAL ROLES WITH FOUR TEAMS

A special NBA distinction that Lenny Wilkens holds is that now that he is the Atlanta coach, he has skippered every team where he played. He played eight years with the St. Louis Hawks, now Atlanta; he played four years at Seattle and coached there 11 years in two different gigs; he played two years at Cleveland and coached there five years, and he played one season with Portland and coached the Trail Blazers for two years. Now he's in his second year at Atlanta.

DOMINANCE INDEX RATINGS

Many years ago Sports Illustrated Magazine devised a Novel Dominance Index with the idea of showing via points how much a team dominated a season. To secure the figure for each team, the championship team's average margin of victory is divided by the margin of victory of the second best team. In some cases, the team with the best win and loss record didn't have the best margin of victory. All this deals with the regular season action and, naturally, there are many cases where the team with the best regular season record failed to win the playoffs. The best team according to this system is the 1955-56 Warriors which had a 4.3 victory margin against an 0.7 differential for next best Boston. The best margin of victory was 12.3 for Los Angeles in 1971-72.

LENGTH OF NBA'S 1993-94 GAMES

This chart shows how long it took to play the league's 1107 games in the 1993-94 season. For each team it shows the total minutes of its games, home, away and overall; the length of a game broken down into hours (1:55.9 means 1 hr. 55.9 mins.) and the fastest and slowest game each team played. The chart shows the 76ers had the fastest games on its home court at the Spectrum (2:03.7), the fastest games away (2:02.8) and the fastest games overall (2:03.3). The Los Anetes Lakers had the slowest games at home (2:16.4), New York the slowest away (2:14.7) and Denver the slowest overall (2:12.9). The longest game that lasted 3:16 pitted the LA Clippers at the LA Lakers in double overtime. The fastest game of 1:45 matched Detroit at Milwaukee. For the trivia fans, adding all 1107 games together would give you a total of 143,650 minutes or 2394 hours and 10 minutes. The league average of 2:09.8 was just under the 1992-93 figures of 2:09.9. In 1990-91 and 1991-92 the figures were 2:08.2; 2:07.0 in 1989-90, 2:09.2 in 1988-89, 2:07.4 in 1987-88, 2:08.1 in 1986-87 and 2:07.2 in 1985-86.

RODMAN NO.1 AGAIN IN GRABBING 20 OR MORE REBOUNDS

Dennis Rodman led the NBA again in 1993-94 by snaring 20 or more rebounds on 26 occasions. He had 29 last year and 39 in 1991-92. Shaquille O'Neal was next with 6 followed by Charles Barkley and Olden Polynice 5 each; Dikembe Mutombo 4; Kevin Willis, Charles Oakley, Dale Davis and Otis Thorpe 3 each; Hakeem Olajuwon, Vlade Divac, Larry Johnson, Loy Vaught and Karl Malone, 2 each; Rony Seikaly, Patrick Ewing, Horace Grant, Billy Owens, Ed Pinckney and Clarence Weatherspoon one each. Thus 20 players did it 74 times compared to 19-94 last year and 22-96 in 1991-92.

NBA'S ONLY TRIPLE DOUBLE DOUBLE BY WILT

Wilt Chamberlin accomplished a feat on Feb. 2, 1968 that may never be equalled in the NBA. It was a Triple Double Double and was achieved in a 76ers 131-121 win over Detroit. Wilt had 25 rebounds, 21 assists and 22 points in this game. Wilt's other totals were 48 minutes, 9-13 FG shooting, 4-12 shooting and no personals in a game witnessed by a crowd of 11,069.

ONE OF A KIND

This game was originally played on Wednesday, Nov. 8, 1978, with the 76ers beating New Jersey 137-133 in double overtime. The game was protested with 5:50 remaining in the third quarter with the 76ers leading 84-81, because the referees had erred in calling third technical fouls on New Jersey Coach Kevin Loughery and player Bernard King. The game was replayed from the 5:50 mark of the third period on Friday, March 23, 1979. Eric Money, who was with New Jersey, and Harvey Catchings and Ralph Simpson, who were with the 76ers, were involved in a trade on Feb. 7, 1979, and ended up playing for both teams in the game. The game in unique for several reasons, according to Dick Pfander of Beulah, Michigan. It's the only game in NBA history in which players played for both teams in the same game. It's the only game in NBA history in which 13 players played for one team (New Jersey). It's the only game in NBA history in which 25 men played for both teams. It's also one of the very few games in NBA history where a protest was upheld and part of a game was replayed. It MAY be the only game in pro team sports history in which players played for both teams in the same league game. The box score: Wed Nov. 8, 1978/Fri. Mar. 23, 1979 at the Spectrum, Phila.

KILLILEA LEADS ASSISTANTS IN SERVICE

An analysis of the longevity rates of assistant coaches from 1972-73 to 1993-94 shows in that 22 year period there have been 818 assistant coaching jobs occupied by 231 different individuals for an average career of 3.5 seasons. The 1972-73 season was the first in which assistant coaches' totals reached double figures for the league (14). The previous year there were only 8 as the pre-1970 trend either was no assistant coach or at most one. Nowadays some teams have as many as four. The leader for this period is John Killilea with 20 years followed by Bill Bertka and Frank Hamblen 17 each, Jim Rodgers and Jack McMahon 15 each, Bernie Bickerstaff, John Bach and Al Bianchi 12 each.

DAVID ROBINSON TOPS PLAYER PRODUCTION RATINGS

One of the systems utilized in the NBA to determine a player's worth gives credit and minuses to players in 11 different categories. A player gets 20 points for a field goal, defensive rebound or an assist; 15 points for an offensive rebounds, steal or blocked shot, and 10 points for a 3-point field goal or a free throw made. On the other hand he gets minus 20 for a turnover and minus 10 for either a free throw missed or a field goal missed. You can add the points for each player in the 1993-94 season and rate them three ways — total points, points per game, and points per minute played (minimum 200 minutes). Below are the top 30 in each category and bottom 30 in points per minutes played.

HISTORY OF NBA POINT DIFFERENTIAL

The chart below shows the history of the point differential for all 30,680 regular season game played in the NBA since its origin in the 1946-47 season. It shows the number of times each point difference (margin of victory) occurred and also what percentage of all games played, ended with that difference, as researched by Dick Pfander of Beulah, Michigan. The chart shows that at least one game ended in a difference from 1 through 56 and also that a two point difference has occurred the most times (2173). There have been 24 games with point differences in the 50's and 60's, including the December 17, 1991 game in which Cleveland beat Miami 148-80 for the largest margin of victory (68 points) in NBA history. One of every four games are decided by four points or less and 53 percent of all games end with a margin of nine points or less.

CHARLES JONES NO. 1 NON-SHOOTER IN NBA HISTORY

We have updated the list originally compiled by Mike Rhyner of Dallas of the players who have been most reluctant to shoot field goal attempts. The guidelines are seven years in the league, playing at least 41 games per season and a career scoring average in single digits through 1993-94. Charles Jones of Detroit has attempted just 1473 shots in 13,542 minutes or one shot every 9.2 minutes. Next in line are Manute Bol 7.1 minutes, Harvey Catchings 6.2, Greg Kite 6.2, Ed Nealy 6.113, Paul Griffin 6.07, Mark Eaton 5.6, Jon Koncak 5.2, T.R. Dunn 5.2, and Danny Vranes 5.0. Note 4 ex-76ers are in the group (Jones, Bol, Catchings, Vranes).

STIVRINS IN FIVE UNIFORMS IN 1992-93

Forward Alex Stivrins suited up for five NBA teams (one twice) during the 1992-93 season. He started the year with Phoenix where he played for eight games. Then he moved to Atlanta for five games as part of two 10-day contracts. Then came a 10-day pact with the Los Angeles Clippers where he played once. Then he moved to Milwaukee for a 10-day pact that saw him play thrice. Finally he returned to Phoenix for two more games. For the year he played a total of 19 games, 76 minutes, scoring 41 points, for a 2.2 average.

FROM SADOWSKI TO WILT

The NBA began operation on November 1, 1946 and Big Ed Sadowski of the Toronto Huskies was the game's leading scorer with 18 points. Sadowski thus became the NBA's first leader in most points scored in one game. Max Zaslofsky of Chicago and Don Martin of Providence tied Sadowski the next night (Nov. 2, 1946) with 18 points each and Frank Baumholtz of Cleveland jumped the record to 25 points the following night (Nov. 3, 1946). The chart below, researched by Dick Pfander of Beulah, Michigan, shows the progression of the individual scoring record up to the famous 100 point game by Wilt Chamberlain of Philadelphia at Hershey, PA in 1962. Some of the biggest scoring games in NBA history came after Wilt's 100 point game and, therefore, do not appear on this chart.

IRON MAN STREAK

Johnny Kerr played 834 straight games for 76ers from the 1954-55 season through the 1964-65 campaign. He never missed a game with the club.

BRADLEY POSTS 138 INTIMIDATIONS

The 76ers were the only team to keep track of intimidations in the 1993-94 season since San Antonio dropped the David Robinson attempts. Shawn registered 138 intimidations in 24 home games before he was injured. This total topped the 118 that Robinson recorded in 41 home games in 1992-93 and the 83 he posted in 35 dates in 1991-92. Since the category was kept here Manute Bol has the record of 150 in 35 games in 1991-92. Bradley had two super games of 14 intimidations on Nov. 10 vs. Boston and 16 on Dec. 8 vs. Chicago. He also had 10 on Dec. 17 vs. the LA Lakers. He never had less than two. All his double figure feats topped any recorded by Bol or Robinson.

UPS AND DOWNS IN NBA SCORING

On Friday, Nov. 1, 1946 the NBA began operation (as the BAA) with a game in Toronto in which the New York Knicks defeated the Toronto Huskies 68-66. The 134 points scored in that game by both teams combined became the base or starting point for the records of most and least points scored in a game. The chart below, researched by Dick Pfander of Beulah, Michigan, shows the progression, both upward to the 320 points scored by Golden State and Denver in 1990, and downward to the now famous 37 points scored by the Fort Wayne Pistons and Minneapolis Lakers in 1950. The first overtime game occurred on Thursday, Nov. 14, 1946 when the St. Louis Bombers defeated the Boston Celtics 64-62 (126 total points). The second chart shows the progression, both upward and downward, starting with the 126 point total. The first playoff game occurred on Wednesday, April 2, 1947, when 146 points were scored as the Chicago Stags beat the Washington Caps 81-65. The upward and downward progression is now 285 and 107. The first overtime playoff game took place on Saturday, March 26, 1949, when the New York Knicks topped the Baltimore Bullets 103-99 for a 202 point total. The Progression is now 304 and 157.

PORTLAND LEADS IN CONSECUTIVE SELLOUTS

Portland has 717 consecutive home sellouts to lead the NBA. Boston is second with 578, Sacramento third at 335 and Chicago 4th at 287. The totals include regular season and playoffs.

12 FOOT BASKET GAME — TWO-TEAM DOUBLE HEADER

Two unique occurrences took place near the end of the 1953-54 NBA season. On Sunday, March 7, the Minneapolis Lakers beat the Milwaukee Hawks 65-63 in a game in which the baskets were at 12 feet instead of the normal 10. There were also some free throw variations in this game. The following night, Monday March 8, the same Milwaukee Hawks beat the Baltimore Bullets 64 to 54 and 65 to 54. There have been many double-headers played in the NBA over past years, but those double-headers involved 4 teams. Never, before or since, did the same two teams play two games on the same night in the NBA.

The 12 foot game drew many comments, not many of which were positive. George Mikan of the Lakers said, "It stinks!" Ben Kerner, owner of the Hawks said, "It's the worst travesty I have ever seen in a basketball game." The consensus was that higher baskets made the big men more important which was opposite the intended effect. The players were unsure of where rebounds were going and neither team shot very well. Milwaukee made 26 of 82 for .317 and Minneapolis hit on 22 of 77 for .286. Mikan, one of the better shooters in the league, made 2 of 14. The first and third quarters were not interrupted by free throw shooting. No free throws were shot after the first quarter because each team had accumulated an equal number of attempts. Had there been a difference in accumulated attempts, only the difference would have been shot. After the third quarter all accumulated free throws were shot.

The two games of the double-header were very similar in many respects. The final scores were almost identical and the pattern of quarter scoring was very similar. In both games Baltimore was sharp in the early going and took a solid lead. Milwaukee in each game closed the gap in the second quarter but still trailed at the half. Milwaukee took over the lead in the third quarter of both games and was pulling away at the end. In both games Milwaukee player/coach Red Holzman played a major role in turning the games in the Hawks favor with his hustle, scoring and floor play. In both games Baltimore seemed to run out of gas and was very disorganized in the closing minutes. The quarters were 10 minutes long in each game instead of the normal 12. The three unique box scores follow:

9 OF LAST 13 NBA CHAMPS HAD A JOHNSON ON ROSTER

NBA championships and the name Johnson have been a familiar combination since nine of the last 13 NBA titlists had a player named Johnson on the team. In fact, 12 out of the last 17 have had a Johnson, the lone misses being the 1980-81 Boston Celtics, and the 1990-91, 1991-92, 1992-93, Chicago Bulls and the 1993-94 Houston Rockets. There was Vinnie Johnson for Detroit in 1988-89 and 1989-90, Magic Johnson for the Lakers in 1987-88, 86-87, 84-85, 81-82, and 79-80. Dennis Johnson was a Boston Celtic in 85-86 and 83-84 and a Seattle Supersonic with John Johnson in 78-79. Reggie Johnson and Clemon Johnson played for the 82-83 Sixers and Charles Johnson for the 77-78 Washington Bullets. The only other Johnsons on title teams were Charles and George on the 74-75 Golden State team, Rich Johnson on the 68-69 Boston team and Arnie Johnson on the 50-51 Rochester Royals.

HISTORY OF THE 76ers

Professional basketball in its modern phase has two stages in this city. The first section comprised the career of the Warriors between 1946 and 1962 and saw two titles come here — 1947 when the immortal Joe Fulks hit his heights and 1956 in Tom Gola's rookie season.

The Warriors were transferred to San Francisco after the 1961-61 campaign. Irv Kosloff and the late Ike Richman, however, teamed to purchase the Syracuse Nats in the Spring of 1963 and bring the franchise here with league approval May 22, 1963. The team was renamed 76ers and Dolph Schayes was named coach for the 1963-64 season.

Dolph piloted the team for three seasons and in his final year he steered the 76ers to the Eastern Division title aided by the addition of Wilt Chamberlain who came in January 1965 in a deal with San Francisco. Alex Hannum became the coach in 1966-67 and led the team to a 68-13 record and the NBA title.

Hannum steered the team to its third straight Eastern Division title in 1967-68, and then the Jack Ramsey regime began. Ramsay had been the club's GM during Hannum's two years as coach and when Hannum left after the 1967-68 season, Jack assumed the coaching duties — along with his GM chores. He didn't have Chamberlain who was traded to Los Angeles, but still managed to finish second in the division that year.

Ramsay relinquished the GM role to Don DeJardin just before the start of the 1970-71 season and confined his efforts to coaching for two seasons. For 1972-73 Roy Rubin succeeded Ramsay until the All-Star game break when Kevin Loughery supplanted him. Gene Shue was named coach on June 15, 1973 and started the club's resurgence in the 1973-74 campaign. Pat Williams became the club's GM in August 1974. Fitz Eugene Dixon, Jr. purchased the club from Kosloff in May, 1976. Julius Erving was secured on October 21, 1976 and the team won the Atlantic Division title and lost in the NBA finals.

On November 4, 1977, Billy Cunningham replaced Shue as coach and led the team to the Atlantic Division title and to the Eastern Conference finals. In 1979-80 and 1981-82 Billy piloted the team to the NBA finals and in 1982-83 to the NBA championship. Lou Scheinfeld was appointed president of the club on January 30, 1980, and relinquished the duties on June 1, 1981. Harold Katz purchased the Club July 9, 1981, the sale was approved on Sept. 21 by the NBA and became final on Sept. 24, 1981. Matt Guokas replaced Cunningham as coach on June 14, 1985. John Nash replaced Pat Williams as GM on June 25, 1986. Jim Lynam replaced Guokas as coach Feb. 8, 1988. Gene Shue replaced John Nash as GM on July 24, 1990. Doug Moe was named coach and Lynam GM on May 27, 1992. Fred Carter replaced Moe as coach March 7, 1993. John Lucas became coach and general manager June 14, 1994.

UNCONVENTIONAL TRIPLE DOUBLES

In addition to the conventional assists, rebounds and points triple doubles, there are other positive ones. The most popular is the rebounds, blocked shots and points variety. Hakeem Olajuwon and David Robinson did it 7 times, Mark Eaton 6, Tree Rollins 3, Dikembe Mutombo 3, and Benoit Benjamin, Larry Nance, Manute Bol, Ralph Sampson, Shaquille O'Neal and Artis Gilmore once each in the period between 1979 and 1994. Another novel one was achieved by Fat Lever in 1984-85 when he had 10 or more assists, steals and points. Robinson also had a quadruple double on Feb. 17, 1994 vs. Detroit.

New York	$149,500	Phoenix	$25,000	Denver	$8,500	Utah	$5,000
Chicago	89,500	Atlanta	25,000	New Jersey	7,500	Detroit	5,000
Miami	40,000	Houston	20,000	Dallas	7,500	Golden State	4,000
San Antonio	36,000	LA Lakers	16,500	Charlotte	7,500	LA Clippers	3,500
Orlando	32,000	Seattle	16,000	Sacramento	5,000	76ers	3,000
Indiana	25,500	Portland	10,000	Minnesota	5,000	Total	$546,500

Last year's total $600,000. Boston, Washington, Milwaukee and Cleveland were not fined. Miami had 4 game suspensions; San Antonio, New York and Houston, 3 each; Chicago, LA Lakers and Atlanta 2 each; and Detroit, Utah, Denver, Indiana, Seattle, Portland, 76ers, Dallas, Minnesota, Sacramento and Charlotte one apiece for a league total of 30, 12 more than last year. The money lost by suspensions is considerable since game salaries of players Alonzo Mourning, Hakeem Olajuwon, Clyde Drexler and Dennis Rodman are high.

JOHN STOCKTON NO. 1 IN POINT PRODUCTION 1993-94

Someone suggested that the MVP is the one who is responsible for the most points in a game. A player would get 2 points for each assist. Then add all the points he scored to the points for assists and divide the total by the number of games he played to get his average points produced a game. Under this system John Stockton was the 1993-94 winner, unseating Michael Jordan. Jordan won in 1987-88, 1988-89 and 1992-93 while Magic Johnson was tops in 1985-86 and 1986-87. Stockton won in 1989-90 and Michael Adams in 1990-91.

WINNING WAYS 1993-94

It is most important to get a good start in an NBA game and also have a strong finish, as has been the case in previous years. The team which leads at the end of the first quarter won over 67% of the time, according to Dick Pfander of Beulah, Michigan. The chart below shows which teams were best and which were not, at winning after leading at the end of one period. Seattle, Utah and New York were best at winning games which they were trailing at the end of the first quarter. Winning the fourth quarter produced a victory over 68% of the time. The chart below shows those results. The percentages could have been higher but on some occasions the winning team had a solid lead in the final quarter and turned the game over to its bench to finish out. That point is illustrated by the fact that three teams won 20 or more games in which they lost the fourth quarter. The playoffs were similar to the regular season. The winning team won the first quarter more than 69% of the time and won the fourth quarter more than 62% of the time. On 18 occasions the loser won the fourth quarter and still lost the game by six or more points.

	Regular Season (1107) 1st Quarter		4th Quarter		Playoffs (77 games) 1st Quarter		4th Quarter

WILKENS NBA'S ALLTIME LEADER IN GAMES PLAYED OR COACHED

Lenny Wilkens is in a class by himself when it comes to participation in NBA games since the league's inception in 1946-47. Lenny has taken part in 2975 games broken down this way. He played in 1150 games in 10 years (1077 regular season, 64 playoffs and 9 All-Star) and coached 20 years in 1825 games (1700 regular season, 121 playoff, and 4 All-Stars). Wilkens was a playing coach for 291 of his career at Seattle and Portland. Some purists thus consider that his correct totals are actually 2684 games. Of course the No. 1 player is Kareem Abdul Jabbar but his alltime total including 1560 regular season, 237 playoffs and 18 All-Stars is just 1815, 1160 behind Wilkens. Coaches like Dick Motta and Jack Ramsay have many coaching games but never played in the league. Don Nelson played for 14 years in 1203 games (1053 regular season, 150 playoffs). He coached 17 years in 1489 games (1376 regular season, 112 playoffs and one all-star) for a grand total of 2692 games. If Wilkens' 291 game playing career when he was also the coach are subtracted from his totals, Nelson would be the leader by eight, 2692 to 2684.

76ers BANNER YEAR ON THE ROAD

The 76ers of 1976-77 (632,994) were the biggest road attraction in NBA history until 1984-85 when Celtics drew 663,368 (16,180 average). They drew 33 sellouts in 41 outings for a 15,439 average. In Buffalo they drew the largest opening crowd in the Braves' history two days after Julius Erving was signed. They drew the largest crowd of the year in Kansas City and the two largest in New Orleans including a then record-breaking 27,383. They drew sellouts in both their appearance in Atlanta, Washington, Houston, San Antonio, Cleveland, Chicago, Milwaukee, Detroit, Denver, Los Angeles, Golden State, Portland, Seattle, New York and Boston and in their lone game in Phoenix. They drew sellouts in one of their two games in both New Orleans and Indiana. Only in Buffalo, Kansas City and the Nets did they fail to have any sellouts. Their smallest road crowd was 8,792 at Buffalo in a rescheduled snowed-out game. Their only other crowd under 10,938 was a 9,633 total in their first game with the Nets. By divisions they sold out all 9 games in the Pacific Division; 11 out of 12 in the Central Division, 9 out of 12 in the Midwest Division and only 4 out of 8 in the Atlantic Division. They also had sellouts in all 9 road playoff games to wind up an unparalleled record in the league's history at that time.

CLUB NICKNAME

The late Walter Stahlberg, of West Collingswood, New Jersey, won a contest to name the club in 1963. The choice of the club's nickname was announced on August 6, 1963. There were almost 500 different suggestions among the entries and Stahlberg was one of several who picked the 76ers. However, his accompanying 25-word explanation was deemed the best by the judges, and he and his wife received an all-expense trip to the West Coast to see the 76ers play San Francisco.

$15.964 MILLION SALARY CAP FOR 1994-95

The NBA salary cap for franchise payrolls has been boosted to $15.964 million for the 1994-95 season. The new cap represents an increase of $789,000 from 1993-94's $15.175 million. The league also set a minimum team payroll requirement of $12,924,000. The NBA first instituted the salary cap for the 1984-85 season when teams were held to payrolls of $3.6 million. Other years were $4.233 million in 1985-86; $4.945 million in 1986-87; $6.164 million in 1987-88; $7.232 million in 1988-89; $9.802 million in 1989-90; $12.5 million in 1991-92; $14.0 million in 1992-93 and $15.175 million in 1993-94.

JABBAR TRIVIA

Kareem Abdul Jabbar was born on the same day that the first NBA (then the BAA) championship series game was played at the old Philly Arena. The Warriors (now Golden State) beat the Chicago Stags, 84-71 on April 16, 1947 in the first game of the finals.

EATON, WORTHY LEAD LEAGUE IN LONGEVITY WITH TEAMS

A survey of all the 1993-94 NBA players shows that Mark Eaton and James Worthy have been with Utah and Los Angeles Lakers, respectively, 12 years for the longest streaks of any player in the league with the same team. Both were with their teams since they were drafted. There are some players like Scottie Pippen and Mark Price to name two who have played their careers with only one team but were originally drafted by another team and were traded. We've also eliminated from this list players who were signed as free agents this past summer.
